Operational Planning:

- While C Division air asset (Bell Jet Ranger) remains in the NCR, the SQ air asset has returned to St. Hubert. SQ has advised that, if the asset is required, it will be available, however, will be deployed from St. Hubert, QC, which will delay its arrival into the area. At this time, given the capacity limitations with the Bell Jet Ranger, there is a significant reduction in terms of the ability to relocate resources with this asset.
- The RCMP has seen a fairly significant amount of interest in terms of MP's requesting support for their ingress/egress on Parliament Hill. Conversations suggest that the Senate might be requesting the same. Significant resourcing requirements associated with supporting this function and will this will be sustained. At this time, ensuring that there are appropriate redundancies built into our plans, specifically surrounding rally points, as it's expected the City of Hall and Museum of Natural History will return to business, which could impact the usage of these venues.
- CIP is currently meeting to explore options surrounding the long term sustainability of tactical assets in support of this event. Efforts now are turning towards ensuring that rest and respite options are available for the resources deployed. Temporary adjustments will be made, however these will be driven by operational requirements based on the assessment of threat environment.
- A meeting amongst RCMP management will be held at the NCRCC at 1200 hrs to evaluate the current HR situation and to establish a plan in terms of the future requirements. Suggestions at this time that this is shifting from a critical incident, with OPS now referring to this as more of an occupation.
- Efforts underway to plan for the administrative requirements in support of post incident, which includes file coordination and the planning of an After Action Review, to identify issues, best practices and lessons learned.
- Business continuity, in terms of operational command, as it pertains to the current event, has been clarified, whereby if the Commanding Officer of National Division is unavailable, A.C/Supt. Mitch Monette would assume the I/C responsibilities.

- SAA has issued another communique to Parliamentarians and employees advising of the best travel routes, at this time, for access to the Precinct and the grounds of Parliament Hill.
